10 NOVEMBER 2024 – RESUMED 5TH SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY

Mission St. Irénée de Lyon

560 Atwater Ave (Montréal)

Liturgy in Latin according to the Extraordinary Form of the Roman Rite.

Rev. Stéphane Dupré FSSP, Rector
Rev. Luc Poirier FSSP, Assistant Rector

The Gospel reading of Saint Matthew (XIII, 24-30) tells us again the parable of the weeds. The problem of the origin of evil has always exercised the most penetrating minds. Unde habet zizania? No one, however, has resolved it in such a decisive way as Jesus in today's reading. Hoc fecit inimicus homo, that is to say: it is an effect of the devil's envy, of the one who did not persevere in the truth and became from the beginning the homicide of all mankind.

The father of the family lets the weeds grow with the good grain, so as not to damage the harvest. But at the time of harvest, when the wicked shall have fulfilled their mission, which is to serve as instruments of purification for the righteous, when they shall have received their reward by the consolations of this world, and when the sanctification of the elect shall be completed, then the angels of God will root out the tares, and the Church, without wrinkle and without any spot, will celebrate her eternal wedding with the divine and immaculate Bridegroom.
